STIRRING "49" DAYS REPRODUCED AT FAIR.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
San Francisco, March 24.—San Joaquin and Calaveras county will reproduce the "rush of '49" today and tomorrow in their respective county dedication days at the Panama Pacific International exposition. These two districts brought the Bret Harte country again into the limelight by the most spectacular demonstrations of the early exposition period.

A parade, divided into two parts began at the Ferry building, one showing the condition of the two counties in '49 and the other illustrating the same country today. The parade, indicative of the long ago, was more than forty blocks long and consisted of ox teams and prairie steamers, burros laden with guns and grub and camp equipment, an old stage coach with its guard, and a party of Indians in the background, and a pony express in operation. The second half of the parade showed the mining industry as it is carried on today.

PASS ORDINANCE TO GIVE BOARD POWER TO OPERATE PLANT

City Council Makes all Preparations for Taking Over Water Plant

A Week From Thursday.

An ordinance for the operation of the City Water Works and for the organization of the Board of Public Works as the governing body of the Janesville water plant was passed by the city council at its meeting yesterday afternoon. Rules were suspended after the second reading and the ordinance passed, so as to enable the Public Works Board to organize under the proposed regulations, adopt policies for the operation of the water works and be able to have the plant transferred on April first.

The ordinance is as follows: in substance: Section one—From and after the time when this ordinance becomes effective, the City Water Works shall be operated under the direction of the Board of Public Works, which board shall consist of the Mayor, the two councilmen, the city engineer and the city attorney.

Section two—The said board shall have power to adopt such rules as it may deem advisable for its organization and the proper conduct of its business. The Mayor in his absence or disability, the senior councilman, shall preside over the meeting of the said board.

Section three—With respect to the operation and management of the City Water Works, the said Board of Public Works shall have all the powers granted in sub-chapter 11 of Chapter 49 (a) of the Wisconsin Statutes; except such powers as are therein or otherwise vested solely in the council of said city or in the railroad commission. The state provided for the grant of power to the Public Works to enact, amend and repeal all needful rules and regulations under which the patron of the water works plant shall be served. To control, purchase, construct and install all extensions, additions and alterations to the plant whenever the same shall be ordered and funds may be acquired under the statutes provided for the collection of rates by the city treasurer. Penalty for non-payment is to have the amount due entered upon the city tax roll and subject to the same rules as the tax amounts.

Details Arranged. Arrangements are almost completed by the city officials for the payment of the thirty thousand dollars to the Janesville Water company on April first, when the plant is to be transferred according to the order and decision of the state railroad commission after the conference with the railroad commission on the state regulations of the public utilities. Although the attorney of the Emery, Peck and Rockwood company who purchased the bonds has not yet submitted his report on the legal procedure of the city in effecting the purchase of the plant, it is practically assured that the transfer of the bonds will be made by the day previous to the taking over of the water works by the city. The bond house has decided to accept the present bonds and not expect to turn the bonds for the cash through an agent in Janesville on March 31st.

On April first an engineer of the state railroad commission, with the city officials, members of the board of public works, will set the price with the company for the miscellaneous supplies and materials as provided for by the state commission's decision. The water company has filed a very detailed list of the equipment and supplies, claiming a total of $2,851 on hand the day the report was filed. The material will be checked over and the purchase price of the main extension of South Bluff street decided upon. If no agreement can be made, the matter will be taken before the commission for decision.

Ordinance Effective. The ordinance creating the board of public works with the city attorney will be effective on the third day of April and the water commission will make public their methods of operating the plant under city ownership at that time. It is planned to build a small structure at the water works to be used as a tool house and pair house to take the place of the company's shop on North Main street. The office for the water works will be in the city hall in charge of one of the councilmen and the plant work will be transacted at the plant station.

It is expected that the water rates will remain the same as under the company for a period of one year, after which the commission will aid the city in forming rates that will be paid for by the city. A year's operation under the present rate system would give the city commission experience in the handling of the plant and enable them to better deal with the policy after a year's time. Acting on the petition of W. C.

Barrett Specification Roofs

Every building of the first class, every manufacturing plant, every railroad round-house and depot, every flat-roofed building, from a residence to a skyscraper, ought to have a Barrett Specification Roof.

These roofs have won their standing on the basis of past performances.

Their first cost is below that of any other permanent roofing; their maintenance cost is nothing; their unit cost is about 1/4c. per foot per year of service.

They do not need painting, as metal and ready roofings do. They take the base rate of insurance.

For these reasons they are more popular than any other kind.

Write us for estimates.

Davis to place a gasoline storage tank for the "Bowser" system in front of the store on West Milwaukee street, question was raised if a gasoline tank could be placed within ten feet of the building. Underwriter's regulations prohibit this rule and it was said the state law required the tank to be at least two feet under the ground. It was learned other storage tanks were within the ten feet of buildings. Fire Chief Klein declared that there was no danger from the tanks so long as they were equipped with the proper valves. Permission was granted to Davis to lay the tank with a specification that the tank be lowered two feet under ground and connection be placed inside of the curb and sidewalk.

SUES CLINTON MAN FOR HEAVY DAMAGES

George E. Reed Plaintiff in Action Against Dr. C. W. Collyer Which Will Be Tried Thursday.

The case of George E. Reed versus C. W. Collyer will come on for trial in the circuit court tomorrow afternoon, the 25th instant, before a jury which was selected several days ago. This action results from a collision between an automobile driven by C. W. Collyer, who is a dentist and a prominent citizen of the village of Clinton, and a bicycle upon which George E. Reed, a carpenter, was riding. The collision took place on Walworth avenue, in the city of Beloit. The plaintiff claims that the defendant was at fault, and by reason of the accident he suffered severe and permanent injuries, claiming damages to the amount of $5,000. The defendant denies that he was at fault, and alleges that, on the contrary, the plaintiff was to blame for the collision. The plaintiff will be represented by Edward Morrissey of Delavan and Olin, Butler, Stuber and Biedel, attorneys for the defendant are Thos. S. Nolan, Earl B. Hawks of Clinton and Sumner & Bowers of Delavan.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Real good judgment would hardly have selected "up and down Jim McKenzies back" as choice skating ground; however, others seem to have thought otherwise about that matter and we wonder if they found the skating good?

Footville, Wis., March 22, 1915. The Janesville Gazette. Gentlemen:

Above is copy for a little question you might insert if you think best. It begins to appear as though the skating had not been too smooth.

Very truly yours, Oren S. Day.

Janesville, Wis., March 22, 1915. Editor Gazette.

Dear Sir: I read your editorial in tonight's Gazette under the heading, "Why further delay?" I thought that the skaters in Janesville organized some time ago to run their saloons according to law, and to prosecute any liquor dealer that violated the law. Well, I think the same today that I thought when they organized. I thought and still think it was a blind. I can take my fathers or anyone else and prove to them that I can go any Sunday and get any amount of liquor I want in a number of Janesville saloons, and I am not a drinking man either. Why is this? I think that the saloons should be closed light Sundays or else be run wide open all the time. I have heard a great many people speak about the delayed action in the alleged violation of the law by a saloon keeper on Franklin street. A good many Janesville residents would like to know just what is back of all this that is preventing our city attorney from prosecuting this case.

TALKS AGAINST BILL TO PENSION JUDGES

Assemblyman Crosby, a Candidate for Circuit Judge, Opposes Senator Ackley's Measure.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., March 24.—Assemblyman Emory W. Crosby of Neillsville, himself a candidate for circuit judge, appeared before the senate judiciary committee Tuesday and opposed the pensioning of circuit judges at 70 years, which have been on the bench twenty years, as the Ackley bill provides.

There are six judges in the state today, in the neighborhood of seventy years old, he said. They are nice old men but they should retire at seventy. As a rule they'll keep on running, and they are hard men to beat. I have seen cases tried before one of these elderly judges which took seven days, and which were later tried before a young judge and took one and one-half days. Remember, gentlemen, it costs $150 a day to keep the judges at present. I don't want to see Mr. Crosby recalled that circuit judges get $5,500 a year and expenses for every trip outside the county, and averred they do not work as hard as lawyers. He began pensioning judges, take to pension doctors and lawyers; maybe legislators, too, as Senator Bennett jokingly suggested. He believed that Senator Bennett that a circuit judge drawing $5,500 a year and expenses should be able to retire independent after twenty years. But he believed the legislature should pass a joint resolution fixing the qualifications of judges of the supreme and circuit courts. At 70 years, he said, a man in nine out of ten cases is not fit physically to be a judge at present. He well financially and need no pension.

Senator Ackley defended his bill as a matter of justice to faithful public servants. The bill would pension the judge with the regular salary. "Is there any more reason?" asked Senator Bennett, "why circuit judges should be pensioned than members of the state senate?"

"No," answered the Chippewa senator. "Then you would make judges a dependent class?"

"I thought they were 'independent' now," said Senator Bennett, jokingly.

SIoux CITY SHOULD REPEAT IN WESTERN LEAGUE THIS YEAR

Western Circuit Will Have Many Trials Before Season Is Over

This Year—Dope on the Clubs.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Denver, March 24.—Anything is likely to happen in Kansas, and anything this year may be free baseball. Remembering the well known fact of a baseball magnate for a second of dollars jumping into the club, this may sound unreasonable, but nothing is reasonable in the Western League for the coming season. When it comes to trials and tribulations, the Western League has a bad record. All he had was a bad record. The Western, of which Tip O'Neill is the head, with offices on Cortez corner, has been in a bad way. These spots are mostly in Kansas, hence the suggestion of free baseball. It is contended that the Western League will start its schedule with all flags flying, but at the present time, the league has about four or five players and a bat signed up. Every body is waiting to grab the cast-offs from the AA and major leagues and new managers have much of an idea of what their team will look like when it takes the field.

But getting back to free baseball—an attempt was made this winter to transfer the Topeka franchise to Colorado Springs. Miles of newspaper space was taken up negotiating the deal, but it fell through. John Savage, new owner at Topeka, then announced that the team would start as per schedule, but in the meantime, a proposition to the Commercial Club of his town, agreed that if they would undertake to sell $5,000 worth of tickets good for any game during the season, he would guarantee that the club would play out its schedule. Buck Elbright, president of the Wichita club, made a similar but more radical proposition to the business organizations of his town. He offered to guarantee that the business organizations of Kansas towns who happen to go to ball game get lonesome up there in the stands all alone. Elbright suggested that the business organizations of Wichita guarantee the team's expenses by subscription. Then, he said he would throw the gates open and admit the public free of charge. That is the answer to free baseball in Kansas. Wichita may have it.

Indians Satisfied. Sioux City, winner of the 1914 pennant, will be in better shape at the start this year than any of the other teams because of the large number of players signed last year who have been playing for 1915 without sitting for the "leavin's" from the majors. The Indians are expected to set the pace from the opening day.

The Denver Bears, who led the league a greater part of last season, but faded in during the last six weeks when their pitchers were all handicapped this year by the loss of men through drafts and hold-outs. Butcher, crack out-fielder and catcher, has been moved along the Indians. A. A. team. The Bear infield will show a big change with Bill Fisher at first, Matthews, second, Kelleher, or Galloway at short and Manager Coffey at third. At this writing only three pitchers have been signed.

St. Joseph Strong. Jack Holland, manager of the St. Joseph team, promises to come back strong again, despite losses through drafts and sales. Holland has lost catcher Bobby Schanz, brother of Vally, of the Athletics. He has also moved into the majors. His second string catcher was traded, but Holland has had Troy Agnew and Jack Withdraw as backstops. Outside of his batteries Holland expects to start with last year's team practically intact.

Labadie Tigers will be well scrambled when the season opens. The team will present two new infielders, an entirely new outfield, one new catcher and at least three new pitchers. Among the latter will be Barney Schreiber, traded to Lincoln from Denver for pitcher Jordan. Schreiber is an ex-big leaguer and for several years was the best reliever with the Bears.

Wichita Improved. Of last year's Topeka team, Pitcher Ridgeway, Sanford, Dasher, Grover and Edelman and Catcher Toman, infielders, Rappes, second and Cochran and outfielders Savage, Forsythe and Tallion have been signed. Wichita has an added starter in Dolly Gray, of last year's Notre Dame team.

Charles A. Coniskey believes that the South American tour for the White Sox and the Giants next winter will eclipse the late junker around the world of these well known clubs. The Old Roman has invited Tommy Connolly, dean of the American league umpires, to make the trip.

ROCKFORD IS WINNER IN TRAP TOURNAMENT

Janesville Last In Inter-City Club Shoot With Score 834, Held at Rockford Yesterday.

Rockford won the inter-city trap tournament held at Rockford yesterday, the test team score being 834 out of a possible thousand, with the other teams finishing as follows: Beloit, 857; Capron, 848 and Janesville 835. This is the last tournament between the four club league this year. The Janesville men's score was as follows: W. Lawver, 89; H. M. McNamara, 83; W. McViear, 71; E. J. Jones, 85; L. L. Nickerson, 89; E. P. Drake, 85; H. Thorpe, 99; George Healey, 81; J. Heimer, 85; A. Dodge, 79.

Crosby of the Rockford team was high gun with a score of 97, and Blik, Rockford, and Vance of Capron scored 96. The team scores were as follows:

Capron ..... 164 165 167 176 176—848

Janesville ..... 174 164 171 165 161—835

Beloit ..... 173 166 169 173 176—857

Rockford ..... 182 175 183 177 176—893

THIS IS SURE TO STOP EVERS.

When Johnny Evers visits the Polo grounds this summer he will find a "slippery" or "slippery" else but ordinary dirt in the pitcher's box. Last year Evers took one look at the dirt, tasted it or something, and discovered that the soil was so slippery. Evers immediately betook him self to the clubhouse, and there determined that the dirt in the immediate vicinity of the box was being "doctor" ed.

Henry Fabin, sartorial artist at the Polo grounds, has decided that the pitcher's box at the Polo grounds is not to be immaculate—not immaculate, that Henry had anything to do with the soap Johnny found at the Polo grounds last season, because there may be a soap mine or quarry or whatever it is they get soap from right around there—but Henry is determined to have everything so far from the pitcher's box that even microscopic Johnny won't be able to find any fault.

MORRIS MILLER

Bill Donovan realizes that weak being was the big weakness of the Yankees last year, and while he does not believe he has any slugging out fit he is certain that there will be a big improvement over the bush league average of .229 which the only wonder is that the club finished out of seventh place with such work at bat.

Perhaps it's just as well for Cleveland after all that Joe Birmingham wasn't successful in leading Bill Martin, the crack Georgetown shortstop, for the Indians. Birmy nearly had Martin signed up last spring. Then Martin broke his ankle, and while in the Boston Braves got his signature to a contract. Martin worked out with the Braves only about a week this spring, when in sliding to a base he again broke a bone in his bad ankle.

One of the hardest workers in the Washington camp is "Doc" Ayers. The "Doc," for good reasons, blames his slump last fall on the fact that he took so much weight that he could not handle himself and he does not propose to be handicapped in that manner this year. So he is doing a lot of laborious work running around the park and fielding hard bunts for half an hour at a time. This work brings out the sweat and helps keep him in good shape.

Jack Doyle made a bet of $100 with a Pittsburgh man last of season that the Giants would beat out the Pirates. As the race progressed and Clarke's men showed a constantly increasing inclination to take the direct route to China, the man made good his bet, vain efforts to compromise the bet. Finally he appeared one day in September with a proposition to settle for $80.

Why should I settle for $80," inquired Doyle, "when the bet is ready won? The Giants could disband and the Pirates win every game and still it wouldn't do you any good."

"That may be true," said the man, "but if you settle now you are sure of the eighty, and if you don't you are taking big chances."

"How am I taking a chance?" demanded Jack.

"Well," asserted the Pittsburgh plunger, triumphantly, "it's this way. You see I'm sailing for Europe tomorrow and the boat may sink."

The Phillies have not a recruit pitcher. Demaree is the only new man and he has had two years in the big show.

The Federals have plenty of ball players, but unless they hurry up and settle the Kansas City matter they may be forced to open the season without a schedule.

EXPECT BIG BOUTS BEFORE PUGILISTIC SEASON IS CLOSED

Would Match Welsh With Ritchie in Denver Late in April—Gibbons McGooty Mill Looks Probable.

(By Strikes.)

Before the end of the pugilistic season which is but a month away, the promoters will stage several championship bouts that will revive the interest in the mitt game, which has suffered some during the last two weeks, owing to a lack of interesting bouts. The last of these bouts is between Champion Welsh and the American champ Ritchie for twenty rounds in Denver with a decision in April. The Gibbons McGooty clash in Milwaukee, the Kilbane-Chaney scrap in the featherweight division, Promoter Andrews of Milwaukee is planning to stage two more fisty shows before the final curtain is rung down on May 1st and only the topnotchers will be considered. The rews proposes to close the season with a ten-round fracas between Mike Gibbons and Eddie McGooty and have Willie Ritchie and Charley White settle their little grudge early

GEO. CHANEY, THE BALTIMORE FEATHER, SEEMS TO BE THE KNOCK-OUT WONDER

In April. Attempts were made to bring Gibbons and Pacific to Philadelphia into the ring, but so far McFarland has done nothing but spout about his championship ability, showing no inclination to don the gloves and back up his advertising talk.

Welsh vs. Ritchie. Champion Welsh and Ritchie have been offered a twenty-round championship bout by Denver sportsmen, with a $15,000 purse, but Welsh refuses to listen unless a cool $25,000 is talked, with a first mortgage of the town, and a good share of the motion picture rights and a liberal percentage of the receipts. Whether the promoters will heed to his high-way robbery demand remains to be seen, but the Welchman is "thriving" drawing fortune guarantees for short no-decision bouts since Ritchie showed himself up in their recent match. No matchmaker cares to give five thousand for a tango and holding party even to a title holder.

Ritchie On Stage. There is but small prospects that Ritchie can be secured to meet any of the leading candidates among the lightweights for the ex-champ is set on the twenty-round go with his successor and has no ambition to defend his American title in short bouts. Ritchie is doing a "stage turn" with his sister and besides his footlight income is reaping the profits from a western business made with the use of his skilled and educated fists. When he had the crown, the Californian showed an entirely too much fondness for the stage and rarely defended his title, which was not over appreciated by the followers of the ring.

Since he showed his old ability in the recent Welsh bout in New York the American fans are with him, in obtaining a derby mill with the battling under American rules against the defensive master of the 133-pounders.

McGoorty Is Ready. It looks as if Eddie McGooty, whom Oshkosh toast and roasts, would be given another chance at Mike Gibbons, custodian of the no-decision title of the middleweights. McGooty has agreed, but Gibbons has not put the final O. K. and has his hands full of lucrative fights within the next three weeks, where he will not be in as much danger as he would be exchanging hooks with McGooty. Dillon is in the running since he trimmed Gumbert Smith and the Hoosier "mankiller" may get Gibbons in the Hudson ring for ten rounds. Dillon is to box Billy Murray at Hudson on April second and looks a sure winner. If this prediction is true, the result would boom him strong for a clash with the St. Paul "phantom" McGooty and Gibbons would draw well in Milwaukee since they put up a great argument at Hudson when Gibbons stepped up a notch through a point victory.

Jimmy Clabby is finding it tough sledding of late and is having a hard argument with the challengers. Young Ahern gave Clabby a hard run at Philadelphia in six rounds, and New York reports state that they the Englishman showed everything a fighter should have. He received a terrible "trap" in the first round, but had the ability to take punishment without flinching and to deal out a lacing forgetting his old dancing tactics. Clabby was given two knock downs by George Ahern, his ancient rival, in Grand Rapids, but met a newspaper draw. Clabby is unable to show his class in a ten-round bout, being a long distance miller. McGooty is anxious to meet him for the marathon distance in the south.

Kid Williams Busy. Kid Williams, owner of the bantam crown, may have been beaten by the wily Kilbane boss of the featherweights, but he has not lost any of his popularity. He is signed for three bouts, one of which is for 20 rounds with a New Orleans challenger in May. On April 12th the Baltimore terror meets Jimmy Murray in Philadelphia and Battling Lahn in Brooklyn later. In his Kilbane fight, Williams' limited

EIGHTEEN STATES PERMIT BOXING.

Boxing is starting to flourish in Pennsylvania in spite of the fact that it is optional with the authorities in localities. Of the forty-eight states in the Union the game is permitted in eighteen. The following will give an idea as to how the sport is regulated:

Colorado—Twenty rounds to a decision.

Pennsylvania—Short bouts, no decisions. No commissions. New York—Ten-round, no decision bouts, with commission to regulate the same.

Louisiana—Twenty-round matches with decisions.

Wisconsin—Practically same law as in New York.

Maine—Six-round bouts, with decisions, but no commissions.

Tennessee—Eight-round contests, decisions and no commission.

Ohio—Ten-round bouts with no verdicts, optional.

Kentucky—Ten-round bouts, optional in various communities.

Washington—Optional contests, but not permitted to any extent.

Texas, Arizona, Nevada, Utah, Missouri, Oklahoma, Georgia and Wyoming—Short round bouts, optional.

Eleven former big league managers will work in the ranks this year, acting as privates after having met with varying degrees of success in piloting teams in the big rings. Some of them tried for several years to grab off pennants, while others were helmets for only brief periods. Some came close to realizing their ambitions; others of the squad never got their clubs out of the second division. ## THE EGYPTIAN QUESTION.

One of the first direct results of the present war has been the practical seizure of the great land of Egypt, the land into which Jews went during the days of starvation in Palestine in Biblical days, and from which Moses led the increased hosts to the promised land during the tribes of Israel. The land of the Pharaohs, of the mysteries of past centuries, the great cosmopolitan country of today, The Christian Science Monitor says that among all of the nations engaged in the great conflict there is probably none whose population is more diverse or whose problems are more intricate. It is woven into political, racial and religious questions than Egypt. With reference to these cosmopolitan and partisan diversities, the cosmopolitan once said: "The difficulties of the case have passed entirely beyond the limits of such political difficulties as I have known in the experience of half a century."

In considering, therefore, the "Egyptian question" in its present bearing on world conditions, the cosmopolitan element of the country must be taken seriously into account. We are here involved at once in almost every conceivable problem connected with national and international commercial policies, including self-government, mixed tribunals, racial feeling, religious prejudices, colonization of oriental peoples, nationalism, education, and a wide circle of international controversies ranging all the way from the Suez canal to the Turkish Pasha. Here England has confronted, and even now confronts, tasks as intricate as any it has ever faced in dealing with the rights of Bengal or the Afghan tribes of northern India, for here it is dealing with a cosmopolitan land. Not even Singapore can show such a meeting place of nations and races, diverse and exacting of their rights. It is east and west coming daily face to face. Added to this mixture of races, which also involves naturally a mixture of languages, with French, Arabic and English especially predominant, is the problem of mixed beliefs which has constituted always one of the most complex factors in eastern states. In fact unity among orientals seems to be more frequently religious than national. Religious differences are usually found to be the most formidable obstacles to political or national fusion, and these differences have perhaps never been more truly accentuated than in Egypt.

It is with such chaotic racial, international and ecclesiastical material that the Egypt of today, under the leadership for the last three years of the British agent, Lord Kitchener, is attempting to evolve order, and, just now, is presenting a remarkably united front against the nation that until recently has held over it a political and religious suzerainty. In spite of the fact that Egypt, in common with India and the Philippines, and, indeed, every eastern land governed by western nations, manifests more or less disaffection, against which careful guard must be kept by the rulers in times of peace, there is in evidence throughout this old land of the Nile a remarkable condition of united sentiment and patriotism; a loyalty to the nation whose occupation has meant in recent years so much for its modern development. One can hardly predict things that may come to pass as the result of the present conflict, but the fact that the remarkably diverse populations of such eastern countries as Egypt and India have, for the moment at least, forgotten their internal strivings with one another in a common loyalty such as perhaps no former centuries have witnessed, may be pondered as one of the most significant incidents in the great European conflict.

ITALY AND THE WAR.

Upon the ultimate decision of Italy depends much of the immediate future of the war. An exchange asks: "Does Italy really expect to have her demands upon Austria satisfied? Are they not rather framed in such a way that they must be rejected? There is a sort of rude poetic justice about the situation, because this was exactly the proposition which Austria made to Serbia. Austria could not surrender without a fight the provinces Italy demands. But if Italy enters the war the days of Austria as an empire are numbered.

A subtle Italian portion of the Trentino—it is not all Italian—might be most easily ceded. Trieste is a very different proposition; and when to this is added the Istrian littoral, including the remaining first-class port of Fiume and the Austrian naval base at Pola, Austria automatically ceases to be a sea power. Her only water access, in fact, would be by the entirely inadequate Danube. "Little seems to be left for the empire than the mere Kingdom of Hungary. The Slav provinces of Bosnia and Herzegovina must go to Serbia. Rumania will demand her share on the east. Russia will take, for herself or the created Kingdom of Poland, the northern province of Galicia down to the Carpathians. To preserve its own existence, Germany Austria would probably throw in its lot with Germany, having little enough sympathy with Hungary.

From this it will be seen that the campaign for Italy to enter the war is almost overwhelmingly strong. She has little to lose. Austria has no strength with which to invade her, and the Germans have their hands full elsewhere. What Germany would do, indeed, against the Italian army of 1,100,000 men fully equipped, and with a sound and relatively unencumbered finance behind it, is an important question. The Austrian resistance to invasion would be small. Italy would indeed be in position to throw a large force through France into southern Germany, and to maintain it with reserves still untouched.

"It is the opinion of this newspaper that Germany is beaten now. Will the settlement be made through the dismemberment of Austria? Its German province would be a solace for the surrender of Alsace and Lorraine, the evacuation of Belgium, and the concession of an autonomous Poland. If the tradition of German diplomacy holds, she would have no scruples about sacrificing Austria to have herself free from the event she dreads above all others—the effective invasion of Germany from all sides but the north. "The next few weeks, and then the days, are fraught with these tremendous possibilities. On them the event of the war may turn."

THE SKELETON IN THE CLOSET.

Gradually the present administration at Madison is unearthing one skeleton after another hidden away in dark closets by the reform administration. It is unearthing petty grafting, insignificant in the individual cases, but gigantic when taken as an aggregate. Unlimited use of the state's money to pay personal expenses. Telephones for office boys, private phones for clerks working at the same or adjacent desks in the same department, even telephones in residences paid for by the state. State officials who have maintained homes in Madison and Milwaukee and have made the state pay the toll for their journeys back and forth, even hotel bills while living at their summer cottages in the northern woods. True, they do not total much in the single cases, but when such abuses have continued for long periods the aggregate is worth considering. The purchase of tons of useless print paper, the cost entailed by storing here and there with no record of it. The finding of hundreds of thousands of unused supplies in the basement, now out of date and worthless. The sale of tons of books and printed documents as waste paper because of inefficient ordering by the proper authorities, all pointing to the need of immediate re-handling the taxpayers' money. The last closet has not yet been opened. The last skeleton has not been unearthed, but it is safe to say that when the sum total is made public it will make as big a hubbub in the state as a whole as did the suits against former state treasurers to secure the return of the interest on state monies so long considered a perquisite of the office, did in the nineties. Have patience, gentlemen, and wait results. Means encourage your assemblyman and senator to vote for the administration measures of reform and economy.

The citizens of Mexico along the border have become so accustomed to battles nowadays the women do not even stop their washing to listen and there is no interruption except when a bullet whistles through the wash tub and they have to stop to repair damages.

Governor Philipp said on his visit to Janesville that his parents had not endowed him with great worldly wealth, but they had been generous in giving him good health and he was able thus to make up for the loss of the other essential and continue work.

There does not seem to be anything good for a bald-headed lawn except to dig it up, either plant new sod, or after fertilization put in a generous supply of grass seed.

The present day boy is too busy with his roller skates for marbles, and the average girl had rather skate than play with dolls anyway. So there you are.

General Carranza's masterly strategy still consists in controlling the box office receipts and holding onto the public treasury, supplies as well as cash.

You've a very narrow skirt,
Little Girl.
Are you sure it doesn't hurt,
Little Girl?
There's a mincing little stride,
Where the street is wild and wide,
Are you sure there's room inside,
Little Girl?
Let the bottom out a bit,
Little Girl.
It is much too tight a fit,
Little Girl.
As the matter sadly stands,
You'll be walking on your hands,
And in that event—my lands,
Little Girl.

A correspondent asks what has become of the woman who used to raise potted geraniums and petunias and other flowering plants for home decorations? Our answer is that about now she is telephoning down to the florist's for a bunch of those long stemmed, cut roses at $3 per dozen.

Quickly Relieves Without Distress

The congestion of waste and refuse from the stomach, fermenting in the bowels, generates poisonous gases that occasion distress and invite serious illness. Health and comfort demand that this congestion be speedily relieved and the foul mass expelled.
The well-found objection most people have to the violence of cathartic and purgative agents is overcome by using the combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin that is sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. A dose at night brings relief next morning, without discomfort or inconvenience. A free trial bottle can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 462 Washington St., Monticello, Ills.

BUTCHER, MILLER AND BAKER BEFORE COURT ON POLICE WARRANTS

Butcher Charged With Obtaining $20 Under False Pretenses—Milton Youth Up for Perjury.

There was a Butcher, a Miller and a Baker, all except the Baker, this morning in the municipal court. Also Thomas "Snowball" Mulcairn, and Ernest Frank, of Milton were in the justice bench making a busy morning for the wheels of justice.

Held for Perjury.

Ernest Frank, arrested by Constable W. E. Dulin at his farm morning on warrant charging false testimony under oath before Judge Maxfield. On the thirteenth of March conducted a "John Doe" examination for illegal sale of liquor. Frank testified for the defense that he was not a salaried employee of the Morgan House at Milton Junction, but that he was a partner in the business. The testimony of the other three men convicted the authorities that Frank told a falsehood and was held for perjury.

The young man asked the court for a preliminary examination which was set for March 30th at ten o'clock. He was released in the custody of the arresting officer.

Passed Bad Check.

J. A. Butcher, who is said reside in Broadhead, was arraigned on the false pretenses charge under twenty dollars through his point of twenty dollars check upon Nick Kemmel, employee at the Bishop saloon. The offense was alleged to have been committed on March 20th and Patrolman Jay Hymer made the arrest. The warrant charges that the check was a counterfeit, but does not make the check a counterfeit. Judge Maxfield, in court, but made the check a counterfeit. The man that paying the $20 back did not "make good" the alleged criminal inquiry hearing was set for a preliminary hearing for March 29th. The five hundred dollars he was committed to the county jail to await his examination before the court.

Thomas Mulcairn had a smirking smile on his face when he went before the justice bench to answer a complaint charging wife desertion. Mulcairn is a thorough acquaintance with court procedure and when the charges were read he asked for a lawyer and an examination. His examination was set for April 1st at one o'clock and he was set to be in default of $500 bail. Mulcairn was in default this morning by Patrolman Fred Albright on a warrant that has been out for four days.

Given Ninety Days.

George Baker, a Rooster, was given ninety days for being drunk, disorderly and to being a vagrant. Baker was charged by Chief Champion after he had tried to "bum" politicians with a "champion" hard luck story yesterday afternoon. The prisoner was remanded when the ninety days was set out by the court.

Have Signed Papers.

Saloonkeepers mentioned by Albert Kuehne on this witness stand last week for selling liquor to him, were said to have signed papers signed by Kuehne that he was twenty-one years of age. The papers were shown from the Railroad and St. Charles hotel saloons.

TRESPASSING FOWLS STIR CITIZENS' IRE

Police Receive Numerous Complaints That Nomadic Chickens Are Doing Much Damage.

"Keep your chickens to home." The desk sergeants of the police department have been answering numerous and regular complaints from citizens that Mr. Jones' chickens or Mr. Smith's hens were scratching up the strawberry bed or running over somebody else's lot. One enraged property owner asked the police permission to use an automatic shotgun on a flock of prize chickens that had destroyed the greater part of his back yard.

Judging from the complaints the fowls feel that some one else's lot is better than their own's for they rarely stay at home. Chief Champion pointed out this morning that there was a city ordinance prohibiting owners from allowing chickens to run at large with a fine or jail penalty for violations. For fear of neighborly quarrels the complainants are unwilling to sign arresting papers but action is threatened unless the poultry fanciers keep their prizes to home in the future.

Grace Bowles and Alston Curtin, photographed on eloping journey.

Thoroughly displeased at the prospect of single life, Alston Curtin, sixteen, and Grace Bowles, fifteen, both of Washington, eloped to New York last week. Their happiness was short lived, for in the latter city Mrs. Helen J. Adams, an agent of the Travelers' Aid Society, espied them as soon as they got off the train and got them to tell her their story. As soon as she learned the facts she had them taken in hand by the Children's Society, which detained them until their parents arrived to take them home.

Gov. Frank M. Byrne.

Under the leadership of Governor Frank M. Byrne, a fight has been started in South Dakota for the unaxing of industry and the placing of a larger proportionate tax burden on land.

"A person should not be penalized by extreme tax collections for improving his town or his neighborhood," Governor Byrne told the legislators. "Per contra, we should not offer reward in the way of tax immunity to him who gives nothing of value to the community, but only holds unused land for increased value."

R. Bricker, drowned last Saturday. Later the Wisconsin will be commanded by Commander Frederick A. Traut, at present at the naval academy in Annapolis.

Returning to Older Things.

Scholars say that the tendency toward symbolism in painting and all the arts is but the swing of the pendulum. The world has grown old and weary and tired of its dry-as-dust philosophies and is going back to the times when all the peoples of the earth dreamed of great mysteries in little things; when the highest ritual of all religions was the dances in the hills which ended in strange stupors, and humanity first imagined the country of the gods.

REPEAL OF PAMPHLET ELECTION LAW SEEN IN THE HANSON BILL

Measure Provides That State Pamphlet for Candidates Shall Be Abolished.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Madison, March 24.—The repeal of the election pamphlet, by which Wisconsin candidates for state and legislative office may advertise qualifications of all voters throughout the state, is foreseen by the action of the senate today by a vote of 22 to 8, and sent the Frank Hanson repeal bill to engrossment. This vote follows another in which the senate refused to refer the bill together with a new one by Senator Skogmo, back to the committee for another hearing.

Senator Skogmo's bill, in which Lieutenant Governor Dethmar is interested, provides that the pamphlet election campaigns shall be abolished and that the primary pamphlet shall be compiled at the expense of the state, no fee being required of candidates. This is intended to induce every candidate, rich or poor, to enter the pamphlet and wider knowledge of the qualifications of candidates given to voters. All candidates of one party shall be grouped and names listed alphabetically.

The senate refused to reconsider the vote by which it killed the Culbertson bill giving cities under commission form of government four years' time in which to try out the new form of government before they may vote for a return to the old form.

"I am a little tired," stammered Lydia. "We are working so hard, you know, in order to finish the—"

Brood interrupted, his tone sharp and incisive. "The end is in sight. We're a bit feverish over it, I suppose. You see, my dear, we have just escaped captivity in Lhasa. It was a bit thrilling, I fancy. But we've stopped for the night."

"So I perceive," said Yvonne, a touch of insolence in her voice. "You stopped, I dare say, when you heard the vulgar word approaching the inner temple. That is what you broke into and desecrated, wasn't it?"

"The inner temple at Lhasa," he said, coldly.

"Certainly. The place you were escaping from when we came in."

It was clear to all of them that Yvonne was piqued, even angry. She deliberately crossed the room and threw herself upon the couch, an act so childish, so disdainful that for a full minute no one spoke, but stared at her, each with a different emotion.

Lydia's eyes were flashing. Her lips parted, but she withheld the angry words that rose to them. Brood's expression changed slowly from dull anger to one of incredulity, which swiftly gave way to positive joy. His wife was jealous!

Frederic was biting his lips nervously. He allowed Lydia to pass him on her way out, scarcely noticing her so intently was his gaze fixed upon Yvonne. When Brood followed Lydia into the hall to remonstrate, the young man sprang eagerly to his stepmother's side.

"Good Lord, Yvonne," he whispered, "that was a nasty thing to say. What will Lydia think? By gad, is it possible that you are jealous? Of Lydia?"

"Jealous?" cried she, struggling with her fury. "Jealous of that girl? Poof! Why should I be jealous of her? She hasn't the blood of a potato."

"I can't understand you," he said in great perplexity. "You—you told me tonight that you are not sure that you really love him. You—"

She stopped him with a quick gesture. Her eyes were smoldering. "Where is he? Gone away with her? Go and look, do."

"They're in the hall. I shall take her home, never fear. I fancy he's trying to explain your insinuation."

She turned on him furiously. "Are you lecturing me? What a tempest in a teapot!"

"Lydia's as good as gold. She—"

"Then take her home at once," sneered Yvonne. "This is no place for her."

Frederic paled. "You're not trying to say that my father would—Good Lord, Yvonne, you must be crazy! Why, that is impossible! If it is I thought—" He clinched his fists and glared over his shoulder, missing the queer little smile that flitted across her face.

"You do love her, then," she said, her voice suddenly soft and caressing. He stared at her in complete bewilderment.

"I—Lord, you gave me a shock!" He passed his hand across his moist forehead. "It can't be so. Why, the very thought of it—"

"I suppose I shall have to apologize to Lydia," said she, calmly. "Your father will exact it of me, and I shall obey. Well, I am sorry. How does it sound, coming from me? I am sorry, Lydia. Do I say it prettily?"

"I don't understand you at all, Yvonne. I adore you, and yet, by heaven, I—I actually believe I hated you just now. Listen to me, I've been treating Lydia vilely for a long, long time, but—she's the finest, best, dearest girl in the world. You—even you, Yvonne—shall not utter a word against—"

"At—! What heroics!" she cried ironically. "You are splendid when you are angry, my son. Yes, you are almost as splendid as your father. He, too, has been angry with me. He, too, has made me shudder. But he, too, has forgiven me, as you shall this instant. Say it, Freddie. You do forgive me. I was mean, nasty, ugly, vile—oh, everything that's horrid. I take it all back. Now, be nice to me!"

She laid her hand on his arm, an appealing little caress that conquered him in a flash. He clasped her fingers for help, a cry out of the darkness. They were all playing for time. Not one of them but who realized that something sinister was attending their little conclave, unseen but vital. Each one knew that united they were safe, each against the other! Lydia was afraid because of Brood's revelations. Yvonne had sensed peril with the message delivered by Ranjab to Frederic. Frederic had come upstairs prepared for rebellion against the caustic remarks that were almost certain to come from his father. Brood was afraid of himself! He was holding himself in check with the greatest difficulty. He knew that the smallest spark would create the explosion he dreaded and yet courted. Restraint lay heavily yet shiftingly upon all of them.

A long, reverberating roll of thunder ending in an ear-splitting crash that seemed no farther away than the window casement behind them brought sharp exclamations of terror from the lips of the two women. The men, appalled, started to their feet.

"Good Lord, that was close," cried Frederic. "There was no sign of a storm when we came in—just a steady, gentle spring rain."

"I am frightened," shuddered Yvonne, wide-eyed with fear. "Do you think—"

There came another deafening crash. The glare filled the room with a brilliant, greenish hue. Ranjab was standing at the window, holding the curtains apart while he peered upward across the space that separated them from the apartment building beyond the court.

"Take me home, Frederic!" cried Lydia, frantically. She ran toward the door.

"I will come," he exclaimed, as they raced down the stairs. "Don't be frightened, darling. It's all right. Listen to me! Mrs. Desmond is as safe as—"

"Oh, Freddy, Freddy," she wailed, breaking under a strain that he was not by way of comprehending. "Oh, Freddy, dear!" Her nerves gave way. She was sobbing convulsively when they came to the lower hall.

In great distress, he clasped her in his arms, mumbling incoherent words of love, encouragement—even ridicule for the fear she betrayed. Far from his mind was the real cause of her unhappy plight.

He held her close to his breast and there she sobbed and trembled as with a mighty, racking chill. Her fingers clutched his arm with the grip of one who clings to the edge of a precipice with death below. Her face was buried against his shoulder.

"You will come with me, Freddy?" she was whispering, clinging to him as one in panic.

"Yes, yes. Don't be frightened, Lydia. I—I know everything is all right now. I'm sure of it."

"Oh, I'm sure, dear. I have always been sure," she cried, and he understood, as she had understood.

Despite the protests of Jones, they dashed out into the blighting thunderstorm. The rain beat down in torrents, the fire was infernal. As the door closed behind them Lydia, in the ecstasy of freedom from restraint bitterly imposed, gave vent to a shrill cry of relief. Words, the meaning of which he could not grasp, bubbled from her lips as they descended the steps. One sentence fell vaguely clear from the others, and it puzzled him. He was sure that she said: "Oh, I am so glad, so happy we are out of that house—you and I together."

Close together, holding tightly to each other, they breasted the whirling sheets of rain. The big umbrella was of little protection to them, although held manfully to break the force of

A STORY OF SUFFERING

Told by a Janeville Man.

Here is a story of severe suffering that many people go through day by day without relief. But why endure it? Read Mr. Wright's words and you will realize that much suffering does not have to be endured. Proof of merit like the following is what you have been looking for.

A. S. Wright, railroad engineer, 321 Chatham St., Janeville, says: "The jarring an engineer gets is mighty hard on his back and kidneys, so it's no wonder that I began to feel that something was wrong. My kidneys acted irregularly. I had severe back-aches and pains across the small of my back. It hurt me to get up or down. Almost all railroad men know about Doan's Kidney Pills, so, of course, I used some, too. In a short time they put a stop to all the aches and made my kidneys act as they should."

the cold noon of waters. They bent their strong young bodies against the wind, and a sort of wild, impenetrable took possession of them. It was freedom, after all. They were fighting a force in nature that they understood and the sharp, staccato cries that came from their lips were born of an exultant glee which neither of them could have suppressed nor controlled. Their hearts were as wild as the tempest about them.

Mrs. Desmond threw open the door as their wet, soggy feet came sloshing down the hall. Frederic's arm was about Lydia as they approached, and both of their drenched faces were wreathed in smiles—gay, exultant smiles. The mother, white-faced and fearful, stared for a second at the amazing pair, and then held out her arms to them.

She was drenched in their embrace. No one thought of the havoc that was being created in that swift, impulsive contact.

"I must run back home," exclaimed Frederic. Lydia placed herself between him and the door.

"No! I want you to stay," she cried. He stared. "What a funny idea!"

"Wait until the rain is over," added Mrs. Desmond.

"No, no," cried Lydia. "I mean for him to stay here the rest of the night. We can put you up, Freddy. I—I don't want you to go back there until—until tomorrow."

A glad light broke in his face. "By jove, I—do you know, I'd like to stay—I—I really would, Mrs. Desmond. Can you find a place for me?" His voice was eager, his eyes sparkling.

"Yes," said the mother, quietly, almost serenely. "You shall have Lydia's bed, Frederic. She can come in with me. Yes, you must stay. Are you not our Frederic?"

"Thank you," he stammered, and his eyes fell.

Dinner Stories

Mary Ann didn't like the place. The people were awfully refined and did things in 'style' but Mary was not content.

"Please me," she said one morning, "I'd like to give notice!"

"Indeed?" exclaimed the mistress in surprise and dismay. "And what for, pray? Aren't you well treated?"

"Oh, I've nothing to complain of in that way," confessed the maid, frankly. "But when I wait at the table there is too much changing of plates for the fewness of the vittles."

Professor Mason had a charming wife and family of whom he was very fond. But, unfortunately, his thoughts were always on his books. One afternoon Mrs. Mason went motoring with a party of friends and did not return home until evening. The house seemed remarkably quiet to her. She had left the children playing about, but now they were nowhere to be seen.

"Where are the children, James?" s asked the husband.

"They were making a good deal of noise, so I just put them to bed without waiting for you or calling the maid."

"I hope they gave you no trouble," said Mrs. Mason.

"No," said the professor, "except the one in the back room. He objected a good deal to my undressing him and putting him to bed."

Mrs. Mason went in to inspect the children.

"Why, James!" she cried. "This boy in the back room is little Tammy Moore, who lives next door!"

What to Do to Get Fat and Increase Weight

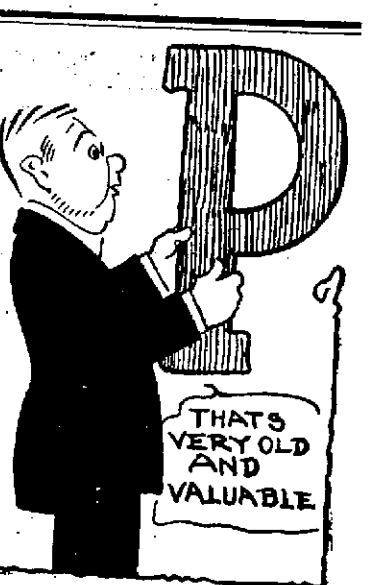

THE REAL CAUSE OF THINNESS

A Physician's Advice

Most thin people eat from four to six pounds of good solid fat-making food every day, and still do not increase in weight one ounce, while on the other hand many of the plump, chunky folks eat very lightly and keep gaining all the time. It's all bound to say that this is the nature of the individual. It isn't Nature's way at all.

Thin folks stay thin because their powers of assimilation are defective. They absorb just enough of the food they eat to maintain life and a semblance of health and strength. Stuffed won't help them. A dozen meals a day won't make them gain a single "stay" there pound. All the fat-producing elements of their food just stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste. What such people need is something that will prepare these fatty food elements so that their blood can absorb them and deposit them all about the body—something, too, that will multiply their red blood corpuscles and increase their blood's carrying power.

For such a condition I always recommend eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is not, as some believe, a patented drug, but is a scientific combination of six of the building elements known to chemistry. It is absolutely harmless, yet wonderfully effective, and a single tablet eaten with each meal often has the effect of increasing the weight of a thin man or woman from three to five pounds a week. Sargol is sold by all druggists everywhere on a positive guarantee of weight increase or money back—Advertisement.

HEROES IN THE TRENCHES.

Paris, March 24th.—These men in the trenches must keep incessant vigilance against sudden attacks by the enemy. The men who serve the artillery fire day and night often-times at an enemy that is never seen.

Medical science will save more lives this year than war will take, no matter how terrifically murderous that war may be. Then, too, the food supply is very carefully looked after by the commissariat. The food supply of the soldiers must be wholesome. Living in the open air, the men are able to digest hard-tack with great relish. Napoleon said, "A man with a weak stomach is pretty sure to be a poor fighter. It is difficult—almost impossible—for anyone, man or woman, if digestion is poor, to succeed in business or socially, or to enjoy life. In tablet, or liquid form Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery helps weak stomachs to strong, healthy action—helps them to digest the food that makes the good, rich, red blood which nourishes the entire body."

"The vegetable remedy, to a great extent, puts the liver into activity—the machinery of the human system so that those who spend their working hours at the desk, behind the counter, or in the home are rejuvenated into vigorous health."

It has brought relief to many thousands every year for nearly fifty years. It can relieve you and doubtless restore your former health and strength. At least you owe it to yourself to give it a trial. Sold by medicine dealers or send 50 cents for box of tablets—Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.

You can have Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser of 1108 pages in cloth binding, fully illustrated with colored plates, for 3-dimes-or 30 cents.

Read all about yourself, your system, the physiology of life, sex problems, marriage relations, anatomy, hygiene, exercise, disease and its prevention, simple home cures, etc.—Advertisement.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these five-colored tablets.

These pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Most headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lumpy" and "heavy." Note how the "clear" clouded brain and how they "perk up" the spirits. At 10c and 25c per box. All druggists. The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, Ohio.

How to Fight Tuberculosis

In a paper read last year before the Bexar County Medical Society and published in part in the Louisville "Medical Progress," Dr. J. W. Corhart, of San Antonio, Texas, a physician who has devoted much time to the study of tuberculosis, said: "Since time suits constitute a large part of the mineral substances of the human body, they must be supplied in the foods or otherwise. A mineral preparation with tuberculosis unchecked. The widespread and unchecked spread of tuberculosis and other preventable diseases is due largely to the deficiency (time lacking) conditions of mind and body through the civilized world."

Thus from another authoritative medical source, the justification for the use of time in the treatment of tuberculosis.

Since this is one of the ingredients of Eckman's Alternative, much of the success attending the widespread use of this remedy doubtless is due to the combination of this salt in such a way as to render it easily assimilable. It causes no stomach disturbance, and since it contains neither opiates, narcotics nor habit-forming drugs, it is safe to use.

Eckman's Alternative has effected remarkable results in numerous cases of pulmonary tuberculosis (consumption) and allied chronic affections of the throat and bronchial passages. In many instances such conditions, apparently, have yielded completely to it.

In case your druggist is out of it, ask him to order, or send direct to Eckman Laboratories, Philadelphia.

EARLY LIFE IN WISCONSIN

CREATURES EXISTING BEFORE HISTORY.

No. 2.
Prepared for the Gazette by the Geology department at the University of Wisconsin.

While Wisconsin is very near the heart of the continent it has been at least partly submerged many times, and each sea has left its record in rocks and their enclosed fossils. Extending in a broad belt across the southern half of the state and reaching northward in long slender arms along the east and west borders, such recording beds are everywhere at hand. With the glacial drift it not too thick great slabs of stone literally made up of fossils can often be taken from the ledges, but again before the is rewarded by finding one of these precious fragments.

The study of the different seas that covered Wisconsin and the different life in each—for each had kinds of animals that were not to be found in any other sea—has long and complicated. Much has even yet to be learned. But if we picture some of the strange creatures that lived in each of the seas we may obtain a glimpse of what we might have viewed had all these seas been here, or had we lived throughout millions of years that elapsed between the time of the first and the last inundation of the land.

Some of the things in these ancient seas would have looked familiar to us. There were snails with shells very similar to the snails we find today. There were the forerunners of the clams, little creatures, to be sure, and their shells with less perfect "hinges" than those of today, but very much the same in general appearance. One of the most interesting groups of animals we should have met were the cephalopods, ancestors of the beautiful chambered nautilus of the South Pacific. The first of these were little, unpretentious creatures with small tube-like shells. The shell was really a house for the animal, and the animal lived in the room arranged one behind the other, and even having moved in to a new chamber the owner never returned to an old one. And this is the way the house was built. In the open end of the short cone, when he grew too large for his quarters he moved forward in his tube and built a partition behind which he could not again penetrate. In old age this chambered nautilus was long and cumbersome but he must drag around throughout life. Some of the cephalopods had shells fully six feet long and eight inches in diameter. But the cephalopods were restless creatures, and even their great size did not stay their desire for show. Some of them made curved shells and grew little knobs all over the surface. In fact there was a great variety in the manner of their ornamentation. But when conditions changed they could not adapt themselves to their new life, and all perished except the simple ones, species that had no ornamentation.

(Tomorrow in this column will be described some of the strange creatures which existed in the sea over Wisconsin.—Editor.)

A GOOD COW IS KEY TO GOOD DAIRYING

J. A. JAMES OF UNIVERSITY GIVES FINE DISCOURSE AT MILTON MEETING.

LIMING FOR ALFALFA

Prof. Whitson Speaks.—Attendance increases at Second Day of Farmers' Course.

(By A. B. West.)
The second day's program of the farmers' course at Milton opened on Tuesday with a talk from Mr. J. A. James of the Wisconsin College of Agriculture on "Greater Returns from Our Dairy Herds." The speaker was listened to by about seventy-five people, and was illustrated by charts.

The key to success in dairying is good cows. As few good cows are for sale except at high prices, the best way for a farmer to get good cows is to raise them. To do this it is necessary to have good sires, and raise the heifer calves from good cows. To know when cows are good one must use the milk record sheets and the Babcock test. The Babcock test has made dairying in Australia such a success that dairy products from Australia are not tested, it is only necessary to know that they are from Australia to know that they are good.

In order for any cow to more than pay for its feed it is necessary that it should produce at least 200 pounds of butter fat per year. The average for the state is 175 pounds.

Mr. James exhibited a chart showing the records of 18 herds in southern Wisconsin which though they were better than the average throughout the state showed few cows giving satisfactory returns.

In some herds where individuals were making good other cows were kept such a loss that the farmer's profits were negative.

The results of the tests with these cows were a surprise to their owners. One farmer prized a cow because her milk showed very high. Records showed that this cow gave so small a quantity of milk that the owner at a loss of $3 per year. Another cow of this herd the farmer planned to sell because she was not of the type he wished to breed and being large at a lot of feed. This cow made a profit of $80 per year.

Cow testing associations are doing much to weed the robber cows from the herd. Farmers taking advantage of the records will be able the next year, by selling poor cows, to make a much larger percentage with the same number of cows, replacing those with heifers bred from their best cows.

The daily milk records show beside the poor production many things about the individual cows, and lead to more economical and better feeding.

Mr. Weir, being unable to be present, his place was filled by Prof. A. B. Whitson, who, speaking of "Liming for Alfalfa," gave first some of the basic principles governing the use of lime for crops.

There are, he stated, three reasons for liming:

1. To correct acidity of soil.
2. Lime is a carrier of nitrogen.
3. Lime is needed calcium.

If there is lime in the soil to correct for the other two purposes.

The acidity in soil varies, and up to the present time there has been no way of measuring it accurately. The amount of lime needed just now is the experiment station is perfecting an apparatus for the measuring of the acidity of the soil which will be available in a few weeks for individual farmers and other persons desiring to use it.

Mr. Whitson gave some valuable suggestions about the different forms of lime used, the finer ground lime stone gives more immediate results than the coarser.

In the afternoon Dr. Mendenhall spoke to about 200 women on the care of the mother.

She said that a large amount of infant mortality could be prevented if mothers realized their responsibility in preserving their own health previous to the advent of the child, also the importance of safeguarding their health that they would be able to provide the babe with the nourishment provided by nature for it.

Her lecture was full of practical suggestions and information.

Edna Kiedzie Jones followed with a demonstration of the cooking of vegetables. Celery, potatoes, and beans were deftly and quickly prepared and made into savory dishes. Spanish rice, rice balls and Harvard beets.

Mrs. Jones explained that vegetables are especially valuable in furnishing bulk to food, and filling the digestive tract. They are also valuable for the mineral salts they contain which perform an important part in nutrition.

To obtain these salts with the least waste vegetables should be cooked in so little water that it is not absorbed by the vegetable with the evaporated during the process of cooking.

Mrs. Jones' recipes were practical and her personality winning.

Miss Anna Post sang a solo which was much enjoyed, responding to an encore.

A violin quartet of young ladies furnished delightful music during the morning program.

Perhaps 200 men gathered in the college gymnasium for the afternoon program, which was opened by Prof. A. B. Whitson. He said that the soil was constantly giving up its plant food, and to keep up its fertility not only manure must be added but green vegetable matter also. He recommended rotation of crops by which the roots of the plants would be able to reach the soil and bring up a store of decaying vegetable matter to react on the inorganic matter of the soil, making it available plant food.

He also said that marsh land was often unbalanced in food elements, being lacking usually in potassium. For this reason it is usually best to apply mineral fertilizer containing potassium on the marsh land and the all round fertilizer manure on the upland. Phosphorus is a plant food that is often a limiting factor in grain production. It can be added to the soil in the form of raw rock phosphate. About one-half ton to the acre every five years applied with manure or other vegetable matter will in three years add materially to the producing power of most of our farms.

Leslie Bennett sang a solo at this point in the program.

Prof. J. G. Fuller discussed the raising of the "Profitable Porker." He thinks a hog that will mature in a 250 is the most profitable. He would breed from hogs that are broad through the shoulders, that have equal backs and good legs. He feeds 8 to 12 pounds of corn, oats and from 1 to 2 pounds of stock feed a day. In summer some forage crop as clover or rape, will reduce the grain ration.

He gave other valuable hints in profitable pork raising.

Teams of five each from the Janesville and Milton high schools, and from Rock Prairie Y. M. C. A. group entered into a horse judging contest. Ten horses in three classes had been provided.

"OLD ABE," FEMALE? FICTION MOST PURE LOCAL VET VOUCHES

George Viney Says "Scandal" Story That Bird Was Not a Male Is Hoax.—Contradicts Its Author.

They have a new story afloat about "Old Abe," the famous war eagle of the Eighth Wisconsin Infantry. Aside from the fact that the Eighth traveled as many miles as any regiment during the war, and "Old Abe" was always with them, his fame as a traveler and as an animal of curiosity is well known. The eagle was famous for many things, his presence was in high demand at all reunions, not only in the state of his birth, Wisconsin, but as far east as the coast.

But it is a scandalous story that has just arisen recently relative to "Old Abe," and it should be told, for everybody in Wisconsin has known about the wonderful war eagle, and will not rest, if it is possible, to shield its memory from those who, through revenge or a mistaken kindness have cast reproach upon it.

Several days ago a taxidermist of Jackson county presented to the state a stuffed bald eagle from the same family of eagles that "Old Abe" hailed from. It is now on exhibition back of the speaker's desk, in the assembly room, and is greatly admired, both by the members and visitors.

Now comes the scandal. The taxidermist, who is perfectly familiar with bird creation, when told that the present eagle was not as large as "Old Abe" said, "I know that. You should remember that the male bird is never so large as the female bird."

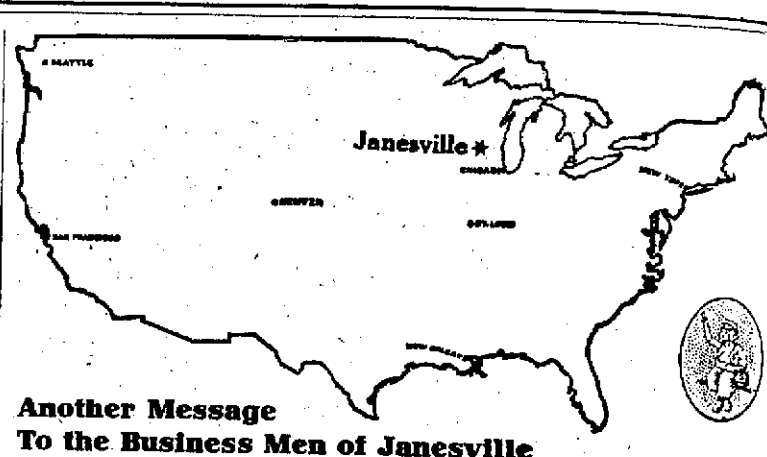

But here is where the objection comes in. It is from Charles Viney, of 468 North Washington street, caretaker of the Washington school, himself a soldier in the war of the rebellion on the side of the blue for four and one-half years, and the only remaining living member of the Janesville company, Co. C, of the famous Eagle Regiment, the Eighth, that went to the front and returned when that company was mustered out.

"Old Abe" a female? he exclaimed, when informed of the latest story of the famous bird. "Why, that eagle was a male bird I'll swear."

Mr. Viney tells the latest version of "Old Abe" as a perfect joke and was wont to make much fun of the explanation of the taxidermist which is purported to make plain some of the mysteries of the Eighth Wisconsin's experience. Officers of the regiment, according to the story, as well as members that felt free to call at the colonel's tent during the mess hour, frequently spoke of the abnormal size of the eggs on the colonel's table. It also explains why "Old Abe" was so famous one day when "he" saw a soldier carrying one of "his" eggs to the colonel's tent. "He" flew at the man and would have driven him from camp but for the ready help given the poor fellow by his comrades. It is now believed that if proper treatment had been accorded "Old Abe" during those four years "he" would have flooded the south with Wisconsin bald eagles.

The Eighth Wisconsin was very proud of the bird, and "Old Abe" evidently was fond of the Eighth, for or three days he never failed to turn up when the regiment or brigade was ordered to move. On several occasions in battle he rose above the two lines and screamed his defiance to the enemy and his cheers to the Eighth.

According to Mr. Viney "Old Abe" was originally the mascot of the Eau Claire Eagles, a company of riflemen

Another Message To the Business Men of Janesville

Business fights shy of dead towns. A sure sign of a dead one is the lack of local pride. People who live in a live, prosperous town show it. Their stores are attractive, their streets clean, their homes are well painted.

Nothing shows a lack of pride, a lack of prosperity, like paint-hungry buildings. Let's paint up. As the most durable and economical paint, we recommend

FRUIT LAXATIVE FOR MAMMA, DADDY AND THE BABY, "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS"

BETTER THAN CALOMEL, OIL OR SALTS FOR LIVER, BOWELS AND STOMACH.

liver and bowels clean, and you feel grand.

"California Syrup of Figs" is a family laxative. Everyone from grandpa to baby can safely take it and no one is ever disappointed in its pleasant action. Millions of mothers know that it is the ideal laxative to give cross, sick, feverish children. But get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50 cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups on each bottle. Refuse with contempt the cheaper Fig Syrups and counterfeits. See that it bears the name—"California Fig Syrup Company."

Mother, daddy and the children can always keep feeling fine by taking this delicious fruit laxative as occasion demands. Nothing else cleanses the stomach, liver and bowels so thoroughly without gripping.

You take a little at night and in the morning all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and fermenting food, delayed in the bowels, gently moves out of the system. When you awaken all headache, indigestion, sourness, foul taste, bad breath, fever and dizziness is gone; your stomach is sweet, any.

TOBACCO SORTING DRAWING TO CLOSE

Local Warehouses Will Finish Within Three Weeks.—Big Delivery at Evansville.

Present tobacco warehouse operations in the local market are expected to be completed within the course of the next fifteen days, according to a dealer today. It is expected by that time that practically every warehouse in the city will have finished its assorting.

The buying movement continues to be steady, and it has been estimated that approximately three-quarters of the 1914 crop has passed from the hands of the farmers. Low prices continue to reign as has been the case for the past month.

Expectations that growers in this vicinity would follow the lead of the Albion Prairie farmers and incorporate to hold their crops has not matured to the extent first planned. The movement, it seems, was advocated so late that there were practically no growers in this section who would benefit materially from the organization. Another reason seems to be that the matter was never brought to a definite head because it lacked sufficient backing to be pushed through.

An anonymous note signed G. H. T. was received Monday by the Gazette reads: "One of the largest yields per acre was the crop of tobacco delivered last week to G. H. Richmond at Evansville. The crop of seven acres, one-half acre weighed 2,907 pounds per acre, almost double the average yield."

RID STOMACH OF GASES, SOURNESS, AND INDIGESTION

"PAPE'S DIAPHRAGM" ENDS ALL STOMACH DISTRESS IN FIVE MINUTES.

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs.

Pape's Diaphragm is noted for its speed in giving relief; its harmlessness; its certain unfailing action in regulating acid, sour, gassy stomachs. Its millions of cures in indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis and other stomach trouble has made it famous the world over.

Keep this perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—get a large fifty-cent case from any drug store and then if anyone should eat something which doesn't agree with them; if what they eat lays like lead, ferments and sours and forms gas; causes headache, dizziness and nausea, eruptions of acid and undigested food—remember as soon as Pape's Diaphragm comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. Its promptness, certainty and ease in overcoming the worst stomach disorders is a revelation to those who try it.

Orfordville, March 23.—Mr. and Mrs. Fritzler have gone to the town of Turtle Lake to spend a few days visiting with their daughter, Mrs. Charles Maxworthy.

A good delegation of farmers from the locality went to Footville on Tuesday to attend their farmers' meeting there.

C. E. Doolittle of Broadhead was in the village for a short time on Tuesday attending business matters here.

A carload of tobacco was received at the local siding on Tuesday.

Jessie Graham of Broadhead, transacted business in the village on Tuesday morning between Durand and Broadhead.

Ed. Reeder transacted business in Broadhead in the early morning hours on Tuesday, taking the early freight and returning on the afternoon train.

The local telephone company are setting poles to replace those that were temporarily set after the storm of a few weeks ago. They have a large amount of cable to stretch after the setting of the poles is finished.

William Brubaker, under the auspices of the prohibition party, delivered an illustrated lecture at the opera house Tuesday evening to a fair-sized audience. Mr. Brubaker is a fluent speaker and his address was full of interest. He also exhibited a number of vivid pictures that were greatly enjoyed.

Attractive bills are being distributed about the village announcing the men's supper that the men of the M. E. church will give at the opera house on Thursday. It is expected that a large number will avail themselves of the opportunity of sampling the culinary preparations provided by the "Brotherhood" Chicken pie is chief among the articles of the menu.

LOCAL DOPE FIENDS TAKING TREATMENTS

CUTTING OFF OF SUPPLIES HAS CAUSED SUFFERING FOR MANY.

LAW MOST EFFECTIVE

Enforcement of National Law Brings
About Decided Change in Conditions.

Janesville druggists just at present are experiencing quite a demand for bromides. In fact the run has been on for the past two weeks. The "dope" fiends are attempting to rid themselves of the habit and forget the "sluggishness" for the Harrison Anti-Narcotic law has deprived them of their access to the drugs.

That a large number, estimated by some at approximately fifty, by others to three times that number, are in desperate straits is a consensus of opinion vouched for by many who are in the various positions to see. Demands, repeated and repeated, for habit-forming drugs and their derivatives have been made upon the druggists without avail. The law is too strong to be tampered with.

Several local physicians are giving drug cures. Some of these vary in age from a youth of nineteen to an aged woman of sixty-three years. Both sexes are included. There is no distinction made on the part of the druggists, however, for they refuse one like another.

Pitiful tales are related by the fiends. Nights of no sleep, no rest and of no ease are told in voices pleading for but a fraction of a dose of the drug they were wont to take. Cocaine, morphine, heroin and all the derivatives of the coca leaf and of opium can be sold at ten times their weight in gold if the druggist wants to take a chance. To the doctors, too, who may prescribe the drug in order to form for the druggist to fill, any sum is his if he will take the chance.

Hoarded supplies are running low now and the doctors are becoming desperate. Their cravings for their favorite drug is a constant preying on their minds and it is either take the cure or suffer a hell on earth.

A local woman was taken to a hospital a short while ago for "the cure". It is said that she secured entrance to the institution on the pretext of a few days' rest. Only the ravings of a maniac could be likened to her condition during her internment. Hospital furniture and every article within her room she smashed to smithereens. Four nurses, two during the daytime and two during the night were her attendants. Time and time again with insane strength she battled these women to finally fall exhausted to the floor or either born there by the strength of her nurses. It cost her husband one hundred and thirty-five dollars a week while she was "taking the cure."

Her howlings and cries were a menace to convalescing patients at the hospital. She has been returned to her home now to be cared for but is far from being cured from the hold which the drugs have upon her.

"Will power is an essential of the cure on with the medicine," a well known physician avows.

Basing his authority on the American Medical Journal Dr. George C. Ruhland, a member of the Milwaukee Health Commission, says that physicians have a legal right to refuse to supply drugs to habitual users of drugs. He says: "The law affects the physician both as a prescriber and as a dispenser of drugs. The only effect it has on the former—the prescribing physician—is that it requires him to register with the collector of internal revenue of the district, and that in writing a prescription for narcotic or habit-forming drugs he must write thereon the name and address of the patient, have on the prescription his office address and his registry number, and sign his name in full. He can—and should—cancel his registration if he has printed blanks—his registration number printed on the blank. He need not keep either copies or records of prescriptions; this is done by the druggist. These prescriptions cannot be refilled. This is all there is to the Harrison narcotic law so far as it affects the prescribing physician."

But what about old habits, persons suffering from painful and incurable diseases, and those to whom opium in some form is absolutely necessary? Every physician knows of such cases.

For them the physician, so long as he complies with the law of his own state, can prescribe whatever he deems fit. Dr. Ruhland says. But it must be done openly and without attempt at evasion, and the physician must be ready and able at any time to justify his acts. The law is to restrict the use of opium and cocaine to legitimate channels.

The Wisconsin law provides that habits may receive drugs upon physicians' prescriptions.

A Beloit physician, recently sent to the state hospital at Madison, Line City man to take the cure. The Madison authorities state that they will take a limited number of drug addicts to be cured, and that most of them can be cured.

Various reasons have been given here as to the why and the how of many youths becoming drug fiends. One version is that a "snow" peddler working out of St. Louis to Minneapolis, casually made Janesville a stop on one occasion several years ago and falling in with a gang of young toughs disclosed to them the joys of a "shot in the arm." Three or four doses are sufficient to addict a person and once in his grip one is bound to travel a path fast of ruin, unless a strong will-power predominates. Another story is that several of the youths, following the fairs and games, found that an injection revived their vitality during the long stretches which brought this sleep but much fatigue, and to relieve their straggling dispositions and tired bodies they unintentionally and without a thought of the results, took the drug from companions taking them into condition again. Gradually, however, after the first dose there was a slowly burning passion for more and gradually the habit formed and, returning to the city, was passed on and on and among their acquaintances.

But not all cases arise in manners similar to the above. Sickness and injury have been the causes of nearly just as many cases of habitual uses of drugs as has degeneracy and thoughtlessness. Opium, to relieve pain are many times given by physicians with the result that the patient following his recovery has developed the craving for the drug that he is unable to lose.

Road of Ambition.

The road ambition travels is too narrow for friendship, too crooked for love, too rugged for honesty, too dark for science.

SCHOOL MEN OPPOSE A BILL TO ABOLISH U. W. HIGH SCHOOL

H. C. Buell and F. O. Holt Talk in Favor of Retention of University
Training School.

Madison, Wis., March 24.—A plan to discontinue the university high school and use the building as a physics building thus making it unnecessary to build the physics building now planned, was disclosed at a hearing before the assembly committee on education yesterday. Assemblyman H. J. Grell of Johnson Creek, appearing in favor of his bill to abolish the university high school made this as a suggestion. Mr. Grell contended that the normal schools were giving sufficient training to the teachers and it was wholly unnecessary to have a high school at the university. He declared it was his object to save the amount of this appropriation by using this building for another purpose.

Elliott Defends School.

Prof. E. C. Elliott of the university, defended the high school. He said that it was as necessary to have a school of this character for teachers who are to enter the high schools to get a training as it was to have a laboratory for physics and a clinic for medical courses. He pointed out that other states are establishing schools of this character; that it was the duty of the university to furnish efficient men and women to teach in the high schools of this state and that this was a duty as great as any for the state to perform. Dr. Elliott said that the University of Minnesota had dedicated a building of this character about a year ago, that one was now being established in California and one would be opened in a short time at the University of Michigan.

State Superintendent Cary said that he had always been in favor of the establishment of a practice school of this character. He read from an address he made ten years ago, in which he declared that a university high school to train teachers was the next step the university should take in the rendering of service to the people. Mr. Cary said that it required about 800 teachers a year and that the statistics indicated that the average high school teacher taught about three years.

"This being so, it is necessary to have them well trained so that they may render the most efficient service the very day they begin their high school work," declared Superintendent Cary. "From the normal schools and the university alike comes the complaint that the children in the high schools have not been thoroughly taught. It is for this reason that in this state should be so trained that it will not take years to give her the proper practice experience."

Holt and Buell Talk.

Superintendent F. O. Holt of Edgerton appeared before the committee to advocate the defeat of the Grell bill. He said that teachers who had the practice experience in the university high school were able to enter upon their duties at once. Holt said that it would not be honest to say that the normal schools could render this service. He thought the abolition of the institution would be one of the worst things that could happen to the state.

Superintendent Buell of Janesville, said that the university had established this practice school reluctantly. He read from a report made nine years ago in which the school men of the state had urged this very thing to be done. He declared that contrary to the statement of Mr. Grell it was not a thing that the university had put in, but one that public sentiment among educators forced.

Berlin, March 24.—As German forces press on into Russia, the problem of adjusting German standard gauge railroad coaches to the wider Russian tracks arises. Everywhere else in Europe the rails are 1435 millimeters apart, but on the Russian roads they are 1524 millimeters wide. For some time certain German trains plying between Germany and Russia have been equipped with interchangeable axles which at the border can be shifted in a few minutes, but the majority of the German rolling stock is not so fitted, especially the passenger cars.

The shift from standard to broad gauge is accomplished by shunting four auxiliary cars, one at each corner, the standard gauge wheels are removed and in their places are attached sets of wheels fitted to the broad gauge tracks. The auxiliary cars, operating under their own power, then propel the German coaches along until the Russian tracks are reached.

EXPERT SHOE NEEDLE
MAKER NOT RELEASED
FROM ENGLISH ARMY

Birmingham, England, March 24.—The War Office has refused the request of the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce that George Gee of Redditch, an expert maker of needles for the boot trade, be permitted to withdraw from the army and return to his bench.

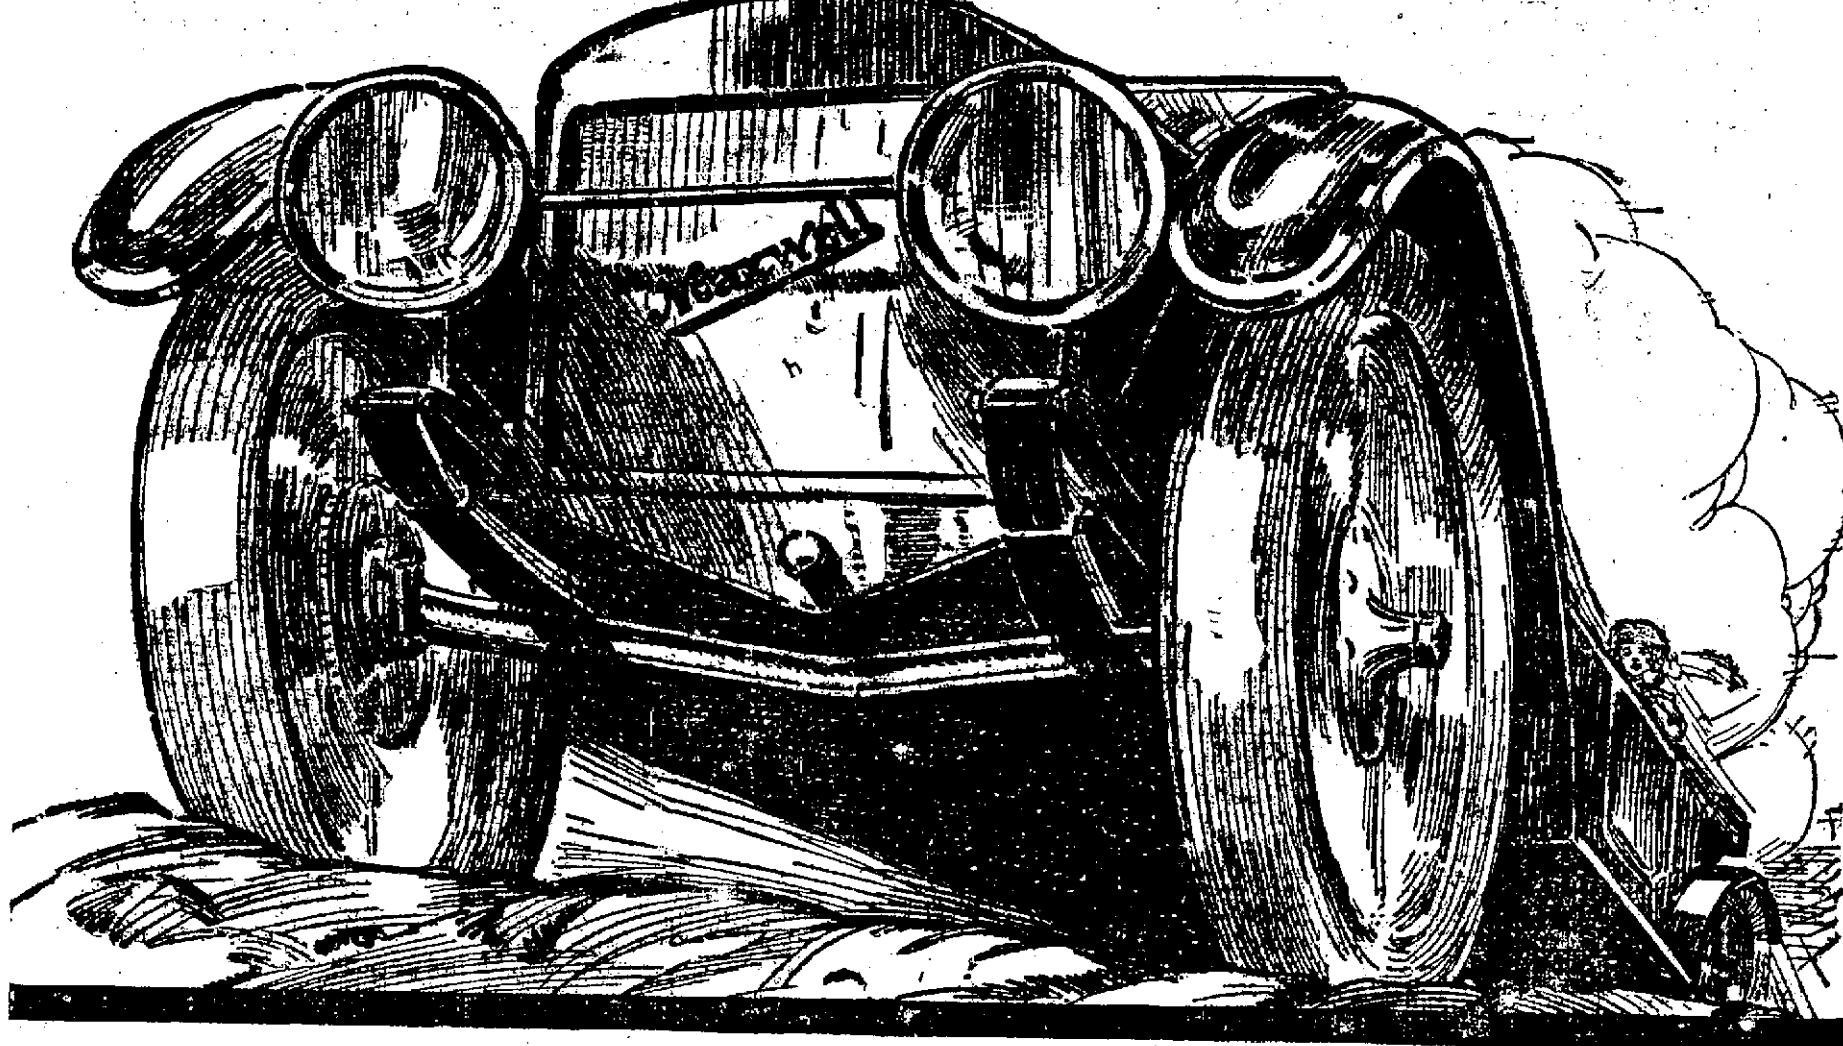

According to a question in the House of Commons, Gee's employers said his services were so badly needed that they were unable to fill an order for 30,000 shoes for the army.

Maxwell 11

"The Wonder Car"

Only a Blindfolded man would buy an automobile today without looking the Maxwell over

There's no excuse today for any man who is "jollied" into buying a car before he looks over the 1915 Maxwell.

We give you the two vital things in this Maxwell Car and then the 17 new features that have made the 1915 Maxwell the most talked-about car ever produced.

Here are the two vital things that any sane man wants when he buys an automobile

In the first place

—a handsome, real automobile that he can be proud to ride in.

In the second place

—a powerful, fast, economical automobile that will take him anywhere and bring him back.

We give you these two vital things, and then just about every other detail of refinement, comfort and endurance that you can think of.

Take power and hill-climbing ability, for example—when you buy a 1915 Maxwell you buy an exact duplicate of the stock Maxwell cars in which "Wild Bill" Turner and "Billy" Carson broke two World's Records in two of the toughest, roughest mountain hill-climbs ever made—Mt. Hamilton and Mt. Wilson.

Take speed and endurance, for example—when you buy a Maxwell you buy a car made by the same designers—the same chief engineer—from the same Maxwell Laboratory, heat-treated, tested steel, that was used in the Maxwell Racers in which Barney Oldfield and "Billy" Carson both broke the 300-mile non-stop race records in Corona and San Diego.

Read This List of Expensive Features. The 1915 Maxwell Has These Features And Many Others.

Attractive Streamline Body
Pure streamline body; graceful crown fenders, with all rivets concealed. All the grace, style and "glamour" that you will find in any of the highest priced cars.

A High-Tension Magneto
Nearly all the high priced cars have high tension magnetos. A high tension magneto gives positive ignition. The Clima magneto, with which the Maxwell is equipped, is recognized as one of the best magnetos made.

Left Side Drive—Central Control!
Left side drive with gear shifting levers in center of driving compartment—center control—has been adopted by leading makers of expensive automobiles as the safest and most comfortable for the driver; that is why the Maxwell has it. The Maxwell is so easy to drive and control that a child can handle it.

Three-Speed Sliding Gear Transmission
All high priced cars have a sliding gear transmission. It is costly to make, but it is the best. If the motor has the power, sliding gears will pull the car out of any mud or sand. The Maxwell has a three-speed selective sliding gear transmission because Maxwell engineers do not consider any other type to be worthy of the Maxwell car.

Double-Shell Radiator with Sheek Absorbing Device
The Maxwell radiator is of handsome design, gracefully curved, and it is built to be trouble proof. It is the expensive double shell type and has ample cooling capacity. The radiator is mounted to the frame by means of a shock absorber device on each side, which relieves the strain of all twists and distortions of the frame, caused by roughness of the road. The shock absorbing device also minimizes the possibility of radiator leaks.

The Roomy Full 5-Passenger Body
Adjustable Front Seat
The 1915 Maxwell has a full grown 5-passenger body. The front seat is adjustable, you can move the car really forward or backward. This makes the car really comfortable for the driver. No cramped legs for tall people or uncomfortable hunched shoulders for short people. Most drivers' seats are made to fit anyone—so it is no more.

Low "Up-keep" Carburetor
The carburetor used on the Maxwell was especially designed for it after long and severe tests under every conceivable condition. Economy tests conducted by hundreds of dealers and owners in different sections of the country have proved its extremely low consumption of gasoline. It has been termed the "low up-keep" carburetor.

Irreversible Steering Gear
The greatest margin of safety has been provided in the steering gear of the 1915 Maxwell. The Maxwell irreversible steering mechanism is perfectly over every other type and its adjustments. At no time is more than a fourth of the bearing surface of the gear which operates the steering gear worn. A new bearing surface may be had by adjusting the gear a quarter of a turn. In short, the Maxwell steering gear has four times the adjustment of any other kind.

Heavy Car Comfort
What surprise most people is the smooth, buoyant riding quality of the Maxwell. The spring suspension of the 1915 Maxwell is the same easily adjustable combination of long semi-elliptical front springs and the three-quarter elliptical rear springs that is used on most heavy weight high priced cars. The Maxwell offers you every essential of the highest priced machines at a fifth of their cost.

One Size of Tire—Anti-Skids on Rear
The Maxwell car is one of the easiest cars in the world on tires. Maxwell owners carry but one size tire and but one size of spare tubes. Economical 30 inch x 3 1/2 inch tires are used all around. A famous make of anti-skid tires are supplied on rear wheels.

A Dependable Electric Starter
For $35 extra, you can have your Maxwell equipped with the famous Stinson-Ruff electric starter. This starter is efficient, trouble proof and easily operated.

And the Maxwell is completely equipped from the clear vision, ventilating windshield at the front to the spare tire carrier at the rear.

The Maxwell Company's Guarantee of Service to Maxwell Owners

No other automobile is backed by a more reliable service than that guaranteed every Maxwell owner. More than 2,000 Maxwell dealers in every part of this country—are always ready to give expert advice, to make adjustments, and to supply new parts at reasonable prices. This splendid Maxwell dealer service organization is perfected and completed by the chain of Maxwell owned and Maxwell operated Service Branches. Sixteen great Maxwell Service Stations are so located throughout the country that a Maxwell dealer can supply any part for an owner within a few hours if not in his stock. Maxwell Service is one of the great advantages enjoyed by Maxwell owners.

Order a Maxwell from us now, and when you want it delivered, we will give you your car—not an excuse on delivery day

COURT MARTIAL VERDICT IS FOR THE IRON CROSS FOR LEAVING BRIDGE

(Correspondence Associated Press)

Dortmund, March 24.—From Heilberg comes the story of a little interesting division detailed to guard a bridge and nothing else—against possible Russian attack. Presently the news that Russians had occupied the bridge nearby reached the men, and agitation was begun at once to leave the bridge they were guarding and attack the Russians. The more conservative argued that they would be court-martialed as remiss in their duty if they left the bridge, but majority sentiment prevailed, the division made a sortie, and drove the Russians from the farm house. And then, just as the conservative had argued, all were hailed before the court martial, with predictions freely made that they would be imprisoned.

The major himself tried the cage, looked serious when he heard the charge, found them guilty of leaving their post, and as penalty—promised to recommend them for the Iron Cross.

Valuable Alaskan Dogs.

In Alaska where horseflesh is scarce, dogs are used in farming operations. A pair of dogs hitched to a small wheel plow will do excellent service in the potato patch and a team of six dogs will draw 1,000 pounds of produce to market.
